

ABOUT THIS DVD:

This DVD was compiled from over 300 hours of live concert video footage filmed between the years 2000 and 2004. In addition, the main feature includes footage from the years 1992, 1994, 1997, and 2005. The video and audio on this DVD have been produced using a state-of-the-art process called "synch-stacking". "Synch-stacking" uses special technology to align various video performances. The performances and their audio are then processed and combined with additional performances, using a special multi-track mixing system. This allows the seamless editing and combination of three or more concerts - and the audio from each - into one massive program containing all the elements playing in perfect unison.
